Title of project: "Two Face"

Beneath the surface I am tired and sad but also alright. I see myself as outgoing sometimes. My personal struggles are trying to be happy, but I struggle with being sad and a little depressed. I try to put my emotions and feelings into my art. I do this so people know that no one is perfect on the inside.

I think people will be confused by my art. They won't understand the true meaning behind it. This is my true identity and feelings shown throughout the art work.
